At risk of chemical burns? Diphoterine Solution

Request a full chemical list.

Diphoterine® solution is an emergency rinsing solution for splashes of chemical products.

It is intended for first-aid use on the human body. Its rapid use in case of splashing or contact of the skin or eye with a chemical product makes it possible to limit the extent of the burns and lesions caused.

TRIVOREX SOLUTION

Versatile: Can be used on MOST chemicals

Reclassifies corrosive waste into non-hazardous waste

- ✓ Indicate and neutralise the hazard
- ✓ Solid Neutralizing Absorbent
- ✓ Leaves a non-slippery dry floor to avoid falls
- ✓ Minimized storage quantity

*Contact us for the list of products compatible to the declassification.

CAN BE USED ON: MOST chemical products

WHAT MAKES TRIVOREX® UNIQUE?

Like most absorbents, Trivorex® will solidify or gel chemical liquids on contact, but unlike a lot of chemical absorbents on the market, Trivorex® leaves behind no chemical residues thanks to its high absorption capacity.

- Trivorex® will neutralize acidic and basic chemicals, rendering them completely harmless
- Trivorex® helps identify chemical hazards with a corresponding colour change based on the pH level, it turns:
 - red for acids, and
 - blue for bases.

- After it has identified and neutralized the chemical, Trivorex® returns to its original pale yellow colour, indicating the absorbent is now safe to collect and dispose of.

- Say it: Utilise the speaking diaphragm designed to help provide easier communication while working.

RESPIRATORY EXPOSURE ASSESSMENT

As a safety manager, you need to ensure you're using the right respiratory protection measures and equipment. To do that, you'll first need to know the types and levels of airborne contaminants in your job site. A thorough and well-documented exposure assessment process will help you:

- Identify potential health risks to workers.
- Prioritise those risks so you can tackle the most serious first.
- Measure exposure levels to see if they're acceptable or not.
- Develop a plan to control unacceptable exposure levels.
- Keep records of exposure for communicating to workers and complying with government regulations.

EXPOSURE ASSESSMENT IS A CONTINUOUS PROCESS
