

FSH Bulletin no. 24

October 2015

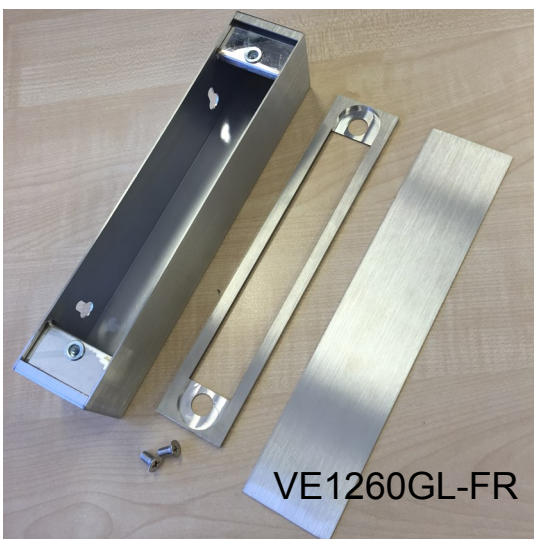

To all our FSH distribution partners

In our continuing design process FSH is pleased to announce the release of two new products to augment our highly successful VE1260 range. The accessories in the VE1260 range includes a extra wide strike plate called the VE1260S-ST12. This striking plate accommodates door misalignment of up to massive 12mm each side of the door centreline. Our first new product is our redesigned surface mounting box which now includes this extra wide face plate. This box (VE1260GL-DO12) is intended to be mounted on the door (either glass or solid).

The second is a matching surface box (VE1260GL-FR) which includes an adaptor plate for the VE1260R for mounting either on the door frame or a frameless glass header. These two boxes are sold individually to allow for either or both to be used in an installation. The bonus is they look great installed.

The normal intent of these boxes is for full glass door and glass header mounting, so we have included a dress plate in each kit.

The old model VE1260GL will be discontinued once stock has been exhausted.

New model is in stock now.
